

29 MAY 1959

Mr. Otto C. Doering, Jr.
Donovan Leisure Newton & Irvine
2 Wall Street
New York 5, New York

Dear Ole:

There is a History of Intelligence by one General Jeno Pilch, which he published in his native Hungarian. It is in three volumes and appears to be a valuable historical document.

Unfortunately, we have not been able to locate a translation of this work. Walter Pforzheimer was talking with  who said she has a recollection that the General had some sort of a translation done of Pilch's history. She believes she actually saw the translation in her old office, but she has no idea where it might have gotten to when that office was closed. It apparently was a bulky item, not bound except by cardboard covers.

If the translation exists and is in any way complete, it could be quite an important document for us and would save us considerable time, trouble, and money. Is there someone you could have look through the available records and cartons to see if you can find any trace of such a translation. I hate to put you to any bother, but we would be most appreciative, and if we can help we will be glad to do so.

Sincerely,

OGC:LRH:jeb
cc: Mr. Pforzheimer
OGC chrono
✓ subject-Pub.

SIGNED

Lawrence R. Houston
General Counsel